

PREPARATORY SCHOOLS, COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES

Latest News of the Life and Spirit Within Academic Walls

In response to the interest in the occult, psychic and supernatural which has become widespread in the past few months a series of eight lectures on "Psychical Cults and Systems, Past and Present," is now being given by the department of philosophy and psychology of the University of Wisconsin.

The lectures are being delivered by Prof. Joseph Jastrow, who has spoken several times recently on the varied attempts to solve interesting problems by methods outside the pale of accredited science and the tendency to credit such solutions, which he considers quite as interesting as the solutions themselves. The lectures are open to the public.

THE CHOATE SCHOOL.

The Choate School in Boston, under two other names, has had a long and honorable history. As the Gilman School it was founded by the Misses Gilman in 1881, and had its first home at 44 Rutgers Square. Later it was moved to 324 Commonwealth avenue, and was generally known as the Commonwealth Avenue School. In 1904 Miss Hannah M. Gilman withdrew from the principalship, and Miss Fanny C. Guild became joint principal with Miss Julia R. Gilman. After seven years Miss Gilman retired, and Miss Jeanne Evans succeeded her. It was then that the beautiful house at 23 Fairfield street, on the corner of Commonwealth avenue, was acquired, and this will always be associated in the minds of the students and friends of the school with Miss Guild and Miss Evans. In 1915 a large schoolhouse was necessary, and 200 Commonwealth avenue was procured for academic purposes, and 23 Fairfield street was devoted exclusively to the home life of the resident students.

It was with mingled feelings of regret and satisfaction that Miss Evans and Miss Augusta Choate, who came into the school as associated principals in the autumn of 1918, were forced to realize that the old place in these two houses was entirely inadequate because of the rate of growth of the school. Moreover the demand of the modern school for outdoor sports and abundant social life within the school added pressure to the obligation to provide a more spacious building and a playground. A long search of more than a year resulted in the acquisition of the Eben D. Jordan estate at 1600 Beacon street, Brighton, where on September 23, 1920, the school will begin its thirty-ninth year. Under Miss Choate, its new principal, and its new name, the Choate School, it will continue to stand for the high ideals that have brought about its present growth and development.

MARYMOUNT COLLEGE.

The students' annual retreat, conducted by the Rev. J. C. Reville, S. J., Ph.D., of the "America" staff, closed on Sunday morning, March 1st. The retreat was held at the Marymount Hotel, New York City. The lectures given during the week were: "The Poetry of James Clarence Mangan," by the Rev. G. O'Farrell, O. C. S. J.; "Russia," by E. H. Heuser, S. J.; and "Jeanne d'Arc," by M. O'Connell, S. J.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE.

The Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship for 1920-21 has been awarded by the faculty of Wellesley College to Miss Edith Susan Whitaker, a graduate of Radcliffe College in 1917-18. In further research work at Radcliffe and has since that time taught botany in the University of Maine. She will devote the year 1920-21 to research in plant anatomy.

BROWN UNIVERSITY.

Visiting day was observed at Brown University Wednesday, commencing with a social hour between the faculty and members of the corporation and alumni visiting committee. President W. H. P. Fawcett then met the visitors and made his annual report. During the afternoon members of the visiting committee held sessions with members of the faculty after which a general inspection of the buildings and the physical training department was made.

PHILLIPS-ANDOVER.

ANDOVER, Mass., March 6.—The trustees of Phillips Andover have voted to devote one million dollars of the new endowment fund to the erection of a new school building together with a memorial tower for the eighty-three Andover men who were killed in the world war. A committee was appointed to consider the erection of a new school building together with a memorial tower for the eighty-three Andover men who were killed in the world war. A committee was appointed to consider the erection of a new school building together with a memorial tower for the eighty-three Andover men who were killed in the world war.

MASSACHUSETTS TECH.

This season's Massachusetts Institute of Technology show, "Patsy," is being produced under the direction of John Craig, Mary Young and Harry Griggs, respectively producer, star and author of "The Outrageous Mrs. Palmer." "Patsy" is a musical travesty on "Antony and Cleopatra," a C. C. Carver of Dorchester, a third-year student in the architectural school, is the author of the book. The play was furnished by competition among all the budding Tech poets, and the scene designs have been chosen on the same competitive basis. There will be four characters in the cast: a male character of sixteen and a ballet of twenty, all made up of Tech students.

PHILLIPS EXETER.

EXETER, N. H., March 6.—The Rev. Frederick J. Libby, since 1912 instructor and director of religious activities at Phillips Exeter Academy, has resigned to enter relief work in Europe. He will go abroad in April. He has been appointed European representative of the American Friends Service Committee, and will travel through Great Britain, France, Holland, Switzerland, Belgium, Serbia, Poland, Italy and Greece. In 1918, he went abroad for the same purpose.

KOHUT SCHOOL EXPANDS.

The Kohut School for Boys, after two years of successful progress of prestige and reputation at Riverdale-on-Hudson, has just purchased Heathcote Hall, which is located at Harrison-on-Sound, near Rye Beach, New York, where, with modern quarters, under the guidance of Harry J. Kugel, the continuation of this high grade school maintaining a strong resident faculty and house mother will be continued. Mr. Kugel, principal of the school, who is a Yale graduate, is regarded as one of the best educators in this vicinity and an authority on the subject of school work.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN.

The growing interest in the social uses of music has led to the offering of a course in community music at the University of Wisconsin during the regular year. This has been given heretofore only as a summer session.

National organizations, such as War Camp Community Service, the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., the Red Cross and Community Service, Incorporated, have been making such frequent calls for persons capable of carrying on community music activities that this course is needed to prepare students to fulfill these qualifications.

Not only is the theory of the social use of music covered, but there is constant practice in the conducting of choruses. The course is in charge of Prof. P. V. Dykema, who has returned after a year's directorship of music in the army camps and in Washington.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE.

BOWDOIN, Me., March 6.—The junior class at Bowdoin has elected the following officers for the "ivy" term: President, Philip R. Lovell, Brunswick; vice-president, Merrill L. Wilson, Sussex, N. J.; secretary-treasurer, J. C. McQueen, Springfield, Mass.; Ivy poet, Robert W. Morse, Andover, Mass.; Ivy orator, John G. Young, Paris, Tex.; marshal, Herbert Ames, Bangor; editor, Joseph L. Badger, Fitchburg; and for the Ivy dance committee, Frederick L. Perkins, Bartlett, N. H.; chairman, Robert R. Schopland, Portland; Lloyd H. Hatch, Dexter; Charles W. Crowder, Richmond, N. Y.; Harold A. Dodgson, New Bedford, Mass.

MOUNT HOLYOKE COLLEGE.

The Mount Holyoke College faculty have voted to accept a unit of Bible study for entrance to college, where the course in Bible offered in the secondary schools are of a nature to warrant this. It is hoped that this action on the part of Mount Holyoke and other colleges will tend to raise the standard of the work in Bible done in the preparatory schools. Prof. Laura H. Wild of the Mount Holyoke department of Biblical literature is a member of a commission appointed to define this unit of Bible study for secondary schools. Prof. Wild is also a member of the sub-committee on educational standards and supervision. The work of the commission, the chairman of which is Robert L. Kelly of the Council of Church Boards of Education, and which includes representatives from Yale University, the Teachers' College, the Hotchkiss School, the University of Chicago, the University of North Dakota and the Iowa State Board of Education, has been to define in detail Biblical courses that will promote the religious as well as the intellectual life of the adolescent boys and girls and that may be offered as a college entrance unit; to encourage the preparation of text books which shall conform to the required standards and to indicate the books of reference available, and to establish standards of Biblical instruction which will insure efficient work in secondary schools.

REVIVING AN OLD CUSTOM.

REVIVING a custom which formerly prevailed generally in American colleges, Boston University held formal exercises Wednesday to introduce a new professor. The scholar thus honored was Dr. Edgar S. Brightman, successor to the late Borden P. Bowne as professor of philosophy, and the special reason was to emphasize the fact that he is expected to render the service in his time to the university that Dr. Bowne did in his time. The desire of the trustees is to keep alive the fundamental doctrines of Dr. Bowne and his philosophy as a teacher and philosopher and to keep alive the tradition to the present age the best traditions of his work.

LEARN WIRELESS.

The Wireless Institute, 340 East 72d Street, is offering a course in wireless telegraphy. The course is designed to prepare students for the examination for the license of wireless telegraph operator. The course is held on Wednesdays and Fridays, from 7:30 to 9:30 P. M.

INSTRUCTION, COLLEGES, SCHOOLS.

Check the course you want, mail this ad, and we will send you a copy of the course and a list of the teachers.

Automobile Training.

Largest and best school in the East. 17th year. Shop work, principles, driving lesson for license. Instruction in the latest equipment. Tuition, $10.00. Material, $5.00. Total, $15.00. Day or evening.

Machine Tool Operating.

Beach and forge work; lathe; milling machine; shapers; grinders; tool grinding. Day or evening.

Tire Repairing.

A fast growing, well paid specialty. Complete new equipment; skilled teachers; rapid progress; individual instruction.

Mechanical Dentistry.

A thorough training in the fundamentals of all general plate, crown and bridge work; also welding process of porcelain casting; day or evening.

Motion Picture Machine Operating.

Complete course in machine operating and projecting. 10th year. Expert individual instruction. Thorough preparation for State examination. License, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30 P. M.

Applied Psychology.

For men who wish a fresh mental start, to face the future with imagination and to become more alert, efficient, and successful in their work. Development and efficiency. Tuesday, 8 P. M.

Public Speaking.

Come to meeting Friday evening, 7:15. See how clerks, shop, business and professional men acquire self-confidence to speak in public.

Memory Training.

A practical course that teaches men to remember names, faces, addresses, phone calls, prices, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian and heard, etc. Wednesday, 8 P. M.

THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF ACADEMIC TEACHER.

It is quite usual to hear criticism levelled against an academic teacher for not combining in himself the two very distinct characteristics of teaching skill and scholarly initiative in research. This criticism is unfair and ought not to go longer unheeded. Of great teachers there are not very many in a generation and nothing is more certain than that such are born and not made. Of good teachers there are on the other hand a fair supply. These are the men and women who, by reason of sound if sometimes partial knowledge, orderly mindedness, skill in simple and clear presentation, and a gift of sympathy, are able to stimulate youth to study and to think. To find fault with such men or women because he or she is not able to make important contributions to knowledge is wholly beside the mark. Very few persons are able to make important contributions to knowledge and such persons are only in the rarest instances good teachers. It is very often true that the most distinguished scholars and men of science in a university are among the poorest teachers. The reason is simple. Their intellectual interests lie elsewhere and they have neither the mental energy nor the fund of human sympathy to give to struggling and often ill prepared youth who may come to them for instruction and advice. Once in a long while there appears a Huxley, or a du Bois-Reymond, or a William G. Sumner, but the number of such is sadly few. It may be said of many great scholars as Mrs. Humphry Ward recently wrote of Bishop Stubbs, probably the greatest name among the English historians during the latter half of the nineteenth century:

"He had no gifts—it was his chief weakness as a teacher—that of a young school around him, setting one young man to work on this job and another on that, as has been done with great success in many instances abroad. He was too reserved, too critical, perhaps too sensitive. A man such as this may, nevertheless, have great influence in the background of a university and do much for the education of the world."

"Thus the history of thought testifies that the more accurate the intellectual life is not the aim of life; but this philosophy must envisage the highest values and ideals if she is to find truth. At the present crisis in world history a philosopher of personal and social values like personalism is most timely. The social unrest and aspirations of our age, as well as the consciousness of social sins of all classes need a philosophy that regards the personal life as the one thing worth while, the type of ultimate reality and that finds the true aim of all social movements not in economic or political changes, but in the realization of the eternal values of personal social character and development."

INSTRUCTION, COLLEGES, SCHOOLS.

Check the course you want, mail this ad, and we will send you a copy of the course and a list of the teachers.

Automobile Training.

Largest and best school in the East. 17th year. Shop work, principles, driving lesson for license. Instruction in the latest equipment. Tuition, $10.00. Material, $5.00. Total, $15.00. Day or evening.

Machine Tool Operating.

Beach and forge work; lathe; milling machine; shapers; grinders; tool grinding. Day or evening.

Tire Repairing.

A fast growing, well paid specialty. Complete new equipment; skilled teachers; rapid progress; individual instruction.

Mechanical Dentistry.

A thorough training in the fundamentals of all general plate, crown and bridge work; also welding process of porcelain casting; day or evening.

Motion Picture Machine Operating.

Complete course in machine operating and projecting. 10th year. Expert individual instruction. Thorough preparation for State examination. License, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30 P. M.

Applied Psychology.

For men who wish a fresh mental start, to face the future with imagination and to become more alert, efficient, and successful in their work. Development and efficiency. Tuesday, 8 P. M.

Public Speaking.

Come to meeting Friday evening, 7:15. See how clerks, shop, business and professional men acquire self-confidence to speak in public.

Memory Training.

A practical course that teaches men to remember names, faces, addresses, phone calls, prices, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian and heard, etc. Wednesday, 8 P. M.

THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF ACADEMIC TEACHER.

It is quite usual to hear criticism levelled against an academic teacher for not combining in himself the two very distinct characteristics of teaching skill and scholarly initiative in research. This criticism is unfair and ought not to go longer unheeded. Of great teachers there are not very many in a generation and nothing is more certain than that such are born and not made. Of good teachers there are on the other hand a fair supply. These are the men and women who, by reason of sound if sometimes partial knowledge, orderly mindedness, skill in simple and clear presentation, and a gift of sympathy, are able to stimulate youth to study and to think. To find fault with such men or women because he or she is not able to make important contributions to knowledge is wholly beside the mark. Very few persons are able to make important contributions to knowledge and such persons are only in the rarest instances good teachers. It is very often true that the most distinguished scholars and men of science in a university are among the poorest teachers. The reason is simple. Their intellectual interests lie elsewhere and they have neither the mental energy nor the fund of human sympathy to give to struggling and often ill prepared youth who may come to them for instruction and advice. Once in a long while there appears a Huxley, or a du Bois-Reymond, or a William G. Sumner, but the number of such is sadly few. It may be said of many great scholars as Mrs. Humphry Ward recently wrote of Bishop Stubbs, probably the greatest name among the English historians during the latter half of the nineteenth century:

"He had no gifts—it was his chief weakness as a teacher—that of a young school around him, setting one young man to work on this job and another on that, as has been done with great success in many instances abroad. He was too reserved, too critical, perhaps too sensitive. A man such as this may, nevertheless, have great influence in the background of a university and do much for the education of the world."

"Thus the history of thought testifies that the more accurate the intellectual life is not the aim of life; but this philosophy must envisage the highest values and ideals if she is to find truth. At the present crisis in world history a philosopher of personal and social values like personalism is most timely. The social unrest and aspirations of our age, as well as the consciousness of social sins of all classes need a philosophy that regards the personal life as the one thing worth while, the type of ultimate reality and that finds the true aim of all social movements not in economic or political changes, but in the realization of the eternal values of personal social character and development."

INSTRUCTION, COLLEGES, SCHOOLS.

Check the course you want, mail this ad, and we will send you a copy of the course and a list of the teachers.

Automobile Training.

Largest and best school in the East. 17th year. Shop work, principles, driving lesson for license. Instruction in the latest equipment. Tuition, $10.00. Material, $5.00. Total, $15.00. Day or evening.

Machine Tool Operating.

Beach and forge work; lathe; milling machine; shapers; grinders; tool grinding. Day or evening.

Tire Repairing.

A fast growing, well paid specialty. Complete new equipment; skilled teachers; rapid progress; individual instruction.

Mechanical Dentistry.

A thorough training in the fundamentals of all general plate, crown and bridge work; also welding process of porcelain casting; day or evening.

Motion Picture Machine Operating.

Complete course in machine operating and projecting. 10th year. Expert individual instruction. Thorough preparation for State examination. License, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30 P. M.

Applied Psychology.

For men who wish a fresh mental start, to face the future with imagination and to become more alert, efficient, and successful in their work. Development and efficiency. Tuesday, 8 P. M.

Public Speaking.

Come to meeting Friday evening, 7:15. See how clerks, shop, business and professional men acquire self-confidence to speak in public.

Memory Training.

A practical course that teaches men to remember names, faces, addresses, phone calls, prices, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian and heard, etc. Wednesday, 8 P. M.

THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF ACADEMIC TEACHER.

It is quite usual to hear criticism levelled against an academic teacher for not combining in himself the two very distinct characteristics of teaching skill and scholarly initiative in research. This criticism is unfair and ought not to go longer unheeded. Of great teachers there are not very many in a generation and nothing is more certain than that such are born and not made. Of good teachers there are on the other hand a fair supply. These are the men and women who, by reason of sound if sometimes partial knowledge, orderly mindedness, skill in simple and clear presentation, and a gift of sympathy, are able to stimulate youth to study and to think. To find fault with such men or women because he or she is not able to make important contributions to knowledge is wholly beside the mark. Very few persons are able to make important contributions to knowledge and such persons are only in the rarest instances good teachers. It is very often true that the most distinguished scholars and men of science in a university are among the poorest teachers. The reason is simple. Their intellectual interests lie elsewhere and they have neither the mental energy nor the fund of human sympathy to give to struggling and often ill prepared youth who may come to them for instruction and advice. Once in a long while there appears a Huxley, or a du Bois-Reymond, or a William G. Sumner, but the number of such is sadly few. It may be said of many great scholars as Mrs. Humphry Ward recently wrote of Bishop Stubbs, probably the greatest name among the English historians during the latter half of the nineteenth century:

"He had no gifts—it was his chief weakness as a teacher—that of a young school around him, setting one young man to work on this job and another on that, as has been done with great success in many instances abroad. He was too reserved, too critical, perhaps too sensitive. A man such as this may, nevertheless, have great influence in the background of a university and do much for the education of the world."

"Thus the history of thought testifies that the more accurate the intellectual life is not the aim of life; but this philosophy must envisage the highest values and ideals if she is to find truth. At the present crisis in world history a philosopher of personal and social values like personalism is most timely. The social unrest and aspirations of our age, as well as the consciousness of social sins of all classes need a philosophy that regards the personal life as the one thing worth while, the type of ultimate reality and that finds the true aim of all social movements not in economic or political changes, but in the realization of the eternal values of personal social character and development."

INSTRUCTION, COLLEGES, SCHOOLS.

Check the course you want, mail this ad, and we will send you a copy of the course and a list of the teachers.

Automobile Training.

Largest and best school in the East. 17th year. Shop work, principles, driving lesson for license. Instruction in the latest equipment. Tuition, $10.00. Material, $5.00. Total, $15.00. Day or evening.

Machine Tool Operating.

Beach and forge work; lathe; milling machine; shapers; grinders; tool grinding. Day or evening.

Tire Repairing.

A fast growing, well paid specialty. Complete new equipment; skilled teachers; rapid progress; individual instruction.

Mechanical Dentistry.

A thorough training in the fundamentals of all general plate, crown and bridge work; also welding process of porcelain casting; day or evening.

Motion Picture Machine Operating.

Complete course in machine operating and projecting. 10th year. Expert individual instruction. Thorough preparation for State examination. License, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30 P. M.

Applied Psychology.

For men who wish a fresh mental start, to face the future with imagination and to become more alert, efficient, and successful in their work. Development and efficiency. Tuesday, 8 P. M.

Public Speaking.

Come to meeting Friday evening, 7:15. See how clerks, shop, business and professional men acquire self-confidence to speak in public.

Memory Training.

A practical course that teaches men to remember names, faces, addresses, phone calls, prices, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian and heard, etc. Wednesday, 8 P. M.

THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF ACADEMIC TEACHER.

It is quite usual to hear criticism levelled against an academic teacher for not combining in himself the two very distinct characteristics of teaching skill and scholarly initiative in research. This criticism is unfair and ought not to go longer unheeded. Of great teachers there are not very many in a generation and nothing is more certain than that such are born and not made. Of good teachers there are on the other hand a fair supply. These are the men and women who, by reason of sound if sometimes partial knowledge, orderly mindedness, skill in simple and clear presentation, and a gift of sympathy, are able to stimulate youth to study and to think. To find fault with such men or women because he or she is not able to make important contributions to knowledge is wholly beside the mark. Very few persons are able to make important contributions to knowledge and such persons are only in the rarest instances good teachers. It is very often true that the most distinguished scholars and men of science in a university are among the poorest teachers. The reason is simple. Their intellectual interests lie elsewhere and they have neither the mental energy nor the fund of human sympathy to give to struggling and often ill prepared youth who may come to them for instruction and advice. Once in a long while there appears a Huxley, or a du Bois-Reymond, or a William G. Sumner, but the number of such is sadly few. It may be said of many great scholars as Mrs. Humphry Ward recently wrote of Bishop Stubbs, probably the greatest name among the English historians during the latter half of the nineteenth century:

"He had no gifts—it was his chief weakness as a teacher—that of a young school around him, setting one young man to work on this job and another on that, as has been done with great success in many instances abroad. He was too reserved, too critical, perhaps too sensitive. A man such as this may, nevertheless, have great influence in the background of a university and do much for the education of the world."

"Thus the history of thought testifies that the more accurate the intellectual life is not the aim of life; but this philosophy must envisage the highest values and ideals if she is to find truth. At the present crisis in world history a philosopher of personal and social values like personalism is most timely. The social unrest and aspirations of our age, as well as the consciousness of social sins of all classes need a philosophy that regards the personal life as the one thing worth while, the type of ultimate reality and that finds the true aim of all social movements not in economic or political changes, but in the realization of the eternal values of personal social character and development."

INSTRUCTION, COLLEGES, SCHOOLS.

Check the course you want, mail this ad, and we will send you a copy of the course and a list of the teachers.

Automobile Training.

Largest and best school in the East. 17th year. Shop work, principles, driving lesson for license. Instruction in the latest equipment. Tuition, $10.00. Material, $5.00. Total, $15.00. Day or evening.

Machine Tool Operating.

Beach and forge work; lathe; milling machine; shapers; grinders; tool grinding. Day or evening.

Tire Repairing.

A fast growing, well paid specialty. Complete new equipment; skilled teachers; rapid progress; individual instruction.

Mechanical Dentistry.

A thorough training in the fundamentals of all general plate, crown and bridge work; also welding process of porcelain casting; day or evening.

Motion Picture Machine Operating.

Complete course in machine operating and projecting. 10th year. Expert individual instruction. Thorough preparation for State examination. License, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 7:30 P. M.

Applied Psychology.

For men who wish a fresh mental start, to face the future with imagination and to become more alert, efficient, and successful in their work. Development and efficiency. Tuesday, 8 P. M.

Public Speaking.

Come to meeting Friday evening, 7:15. See how clerks, shop, business and professional men acquire self-confidence to speak in public.

Memory Training.

A practical course that teaches men to remember names, faces, addresses, phone calls, prices, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian and heard, etc. Wednesday, 8 P. M.

THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF ACADEMIC TEACHER.

It is quite usual to hear criticism levelled against an academic teacher for not combining in himself the two very distinct characteristics of teaching skill and scholarly initiative in research. This criticism is unfair and ought not to go longer unheeded. Of great teachers there are not very many in a generation and nothing is more certain than that such are born and not made. Of good teachers there are on the other hand a fair supply. These are the men and women who, by reason of sound if sometimes partial knowledge, orderly mindedness, skill in simple and clear presentation, and a gift of sympathy, are able to stimulate youth to study and to think. To find fault with such men or women because he or she is not able to make important contributions to knowledge is wholly beside the mark. Very few persons are able to make important contributions to knowledge and such persons are only in the rarest instances good teachers. It is very often true that the most distinguished scholars and men of science in a university are among the poorest teachers. The reason is simple. Their intellectual interests lie elsewhere and they have neither the mental energy nor the fund of human sympathy to give to struggling and often ill prepared youth who may come to them for instruction and advice. Once in a long while there appears a Huxley, or a du Bois-Reymond, or a William G. Sumner, but the number of such is sadly few. It may be said of many great scholars as Mrs. Humphry Ward recently wrote of Bishop Stubbs, probably the greatest name among the English historians during the latter half of the nineteenth century:

"He had no gifts—it was his chief weakness as a teacher—that of a young school around him, setting one young man to work on this job and another on that, as has been done with great success in many instances abroad. He was too reserved, too critical, perhaps too sensitive. A man such as this may, nevertheless, have great influence in the background of a university and do much for the education of the world."

"Thus the history of thought testifies that the more accurate the intellectual life is not the aim of life; but this philosophy must envisage the highest values and ideals if she is to find truth. At the present crisis in world history a philosopher of personal and social values like personalism is most timely. The social unrest and aspirations of our age, as well as the consciousness of social sins of all classes need a philosophy that regards the personal life as the one thing worth while, the type of ultimate reality and that finds the true aim of all social movements not in economic or political changes, but in the realization of the eternal values of personal social character and development."

INSTRUCTION, COLLEGES, SCHOOLS.

Check the course you want, mail this ad, and we will send you a copy of the course and a list of the teachers.

Automobile Training.

Largest and best school in the East. 17th year. Shop work, principles, driving lesson for license. Instruction in the latest equipment. Tuition, $1